

Plant-based Prevention Of Disease

NUTRITION & LIFESTYLE MEDICINE

p-pod.org

2024 Event CME at P-POD for ABLM/ACLM Diplomate Exams

Prior to 2024, there was a 10-hour IN-PERSON CME prerequisite for taking the Diplomate exam.

For 2024, this is replaced by a 20-hour EVENT CME (in-person OR virtual) prerequisite for taking the Diplomate exam.

The P-POD Conference, approved since Dec. 2017 for meeting these needs, has sketched out a flexible array of options for how the expanded requirement may be satisfied through its in-person or virtual attendance.

P-POD will offer three 2024 conferences, with a total of FIVE days in June and September, each one providing exactly 7.5 educational hours:

*Sat.-Sun. June 1–2: Raleigh NC + Virtual, 7.5 hours X 2

*Sat.-Sun. Sept. dates TBA: Newark NJ + Virtual, 7.5 hours X 2

*Sun. Sept. 29: Virtual Summit, 7.5 hours

There will be 4 possible in-person days (each 7.5 hours) and 5 possible virtual days (each 7.5 hours), with 9 possible 7.5-hour registration options in all.

YOU CAN MAKE YOUR OWN REGISTRATION BUNDLE BY CHOOSING ANY 3 OF THESE DAYS (whether in-person or virtual), TO EARN 22.5 HOURS AND SATISFY THE 20-HOUR PREREQUISITE.

SEE HOW THESE OPTIONS MIGHT HELP YOU (continued on next page):

Plant-based Prevention Of Disease

NUTRITION & LIFESTYLE MEDICINE

p-pod.org

(continued from last page):

--A 3-day total of 22.5 hours is 2.5 hours more than needed for Diplomate prerequisites, so there is a buffer of safety in case of unexpected mishaps like air travel disruption or rescheduling costing you an hour or more at the beginning or end of one of the in-person conferences.

--All of the conference dates are on Saturday or Sunday, so if your employment burdens make it difficult to attend conferences between Monday and Friday, you're all set.

--If you can never attend conferences on Saturdays because you are an observant Jew or 7th Day Adventist, or your employment commits you on Saturdays, then you can satisfy the prerequisites fully by participating on 3 Sundays in June and September.

September Newark plus virtual dates are expected to be announced in the final week of November 2023.

Registration for all these conferences is expected to open during December or January.

The in-person conferences are expected to have all scheduled activity completed by 40 minutes before sunset on each day.

